HEAD FOR THE HIGHPOINT

The growing thing . . . the annual Fine Turf Conference is upon us again and Dr. Joseph Troll promises a worthwhile three days when he puts his show together March 4-6 at the Highpoint Motor Inn, just off the Mass. Turnpike in Chicopee Falls.

There will be a heaping plate of information and education for the golf course superintendent, ranging from a discussion on the certification of the superintendent to a three-barreled verbal destruction of pollution.

Dr. Troll cannot be accused of keeping up with the times, because this is just what he has done in arranging his program. And, as usual, he hasn't spared the energy in bringing to the expected overflow audiences some of the brightest experts in their respective fields.

Opening day should be of special interest to the New England super with Alexander Radko, Eastern Region Director of the USGA Green Section, leading a team to assess the major turfgrass problems which hit golf courses in 1969.

That was, as a matter of fact, a very active year. As one student of the growing wars commented, "we could have gotten along very nicely without 1969. As far as I'm concerned, they could have skipped it on the calendar. That's how hard we were hit."

Dr. Radko will have A. Robert Mazur and James W. Timmerman assisting him in his presentation and should be overwhelmed with inquiries during the Q&A session.

Norm Kramer will head up Wednesday afternoon's involvement in the testy subject of superintendent certification, a breakthrough of sorts in giving the professional tag of the super an official look.

Thursday morning will be saturated with the pollution problem as seen by three experts on the subject. Dr. Bernard Berger of UMass will cover water pollution, Dr. Saul Rich of the Connecticut Experimental Station will concentrate on air pollution and Dr. Robert Miller of DuPont will discuss pollution by pesticides.

Friday's windup hours will be devoted to the nitty gritty aspects of the superintendent's plight in his never-ending search to conquer the various forms of turfgrass disease.

The 1970 Turf Conference is a production of three outstanding organizations — the Massachusetts Turf and Lawn Grass Council, the Cooperative Extension Service at the University of Massachusetts and the Golf Course Superintendents Association of New England.

Those responsible for the programming of the three-day affair in addition to Dr. Troll, include Dick Blake, Tony Caranci and Leon St. Pierre of the supers and Francis Downing, Charles Mruk and Jim Rintoul of the Turf-Grass Council.

THANKS FOR NOTHIN'!

This is going to be strong. Good and gutsy. So, those of you with weak stomachs and crippled constitutions may leave the room.

This is about death and about life after death. In particular it concerns one of our departed members who gave to his particular job a lifetime of blood, sweat and tears. His untimely death was mourned by all who knew him and were associated with him. In his own certain way he was a pillar of the profession.

So, he died and they all mourned. And on the day of his death they, being his employers, took time between tears to make sure their club payroll sheet was alerted to the fact that the superintendent no longer should be carried on it. In effect, his pay stopped the moment his fighting heart was stilled.

You say this is cruel, mercenary, barbaric? Wait. You haven't heard the rest. These boys were just warming up.

Along with the measly salary the super received, he had fallen into that trap of false fringe benefit — "the beautiful house that goes with the position." And because he had spent most of his career under the guise of this generous act by his employers, the house soon became to be regarded as his own. Time has a way of dulling reality, you know.

Anyway, the big hearts of those who employed him suddenly turned to pea size, almost as soon as they learned he no longer would be among them. So, they promptly informed the super's widow she would have to find other living quarters. But they were aware, too, of the inconvenience it posed. And they gave her 30 whole days to vacate.

Such a performance deserves mention here, first because of the grave injustice it wrought on the unsuspecting survivor of the dead man, second because it serves as a warning to living supers and third because it vividly points out the need for the profession to seek some means to prevent recurrence of the dastardly act.

In keeping with our policy of airing knowledge of incidents which might affect any and all of the membership, the NEGCSA Newsletter goes on record as condemning this assault . . . a flagrant example of man's inhumanity to man.

Stronger yet, we implore the membership to institute such action which will lead to a safeguard against those employers who are constantly practicing a doctrine of ignorance when it comes to discussing benefits heretofore reserved for the certain few. And if it takes some kind of constitutional changes leading to organization of a union, then let it happen.

Fringe benefits may sound corny to some of us. But it is the coming and necessary thing in the profession. It means standing up to those who would pawn you off as just another piece of decayed machinery when your worth to them has been spent. Instant shutoff at the cashier's window and 30-days' eviction notice. Thanks for nothin' whoever you are . . . and you know who you are!

GERRY WHO ???

We get letters, some giving advice . . . others seeking it . . . a few disagreeing with our peculiar line of logic and an occasional inquiry about the status of contributing editor Gerry Finn.

Gerry has been with us three full turns, more or less, of the calendar year. In that time he has attempted to upgrade the reputation of the profession through his provocative and compelling pieces in the NEGCSA Newsletter. We think he has succeeded.

Finn is a New England native, born in Chelsea, Mass. with stops at Arlington and Springfield before moving to his present residence in Suffield, Conn.

He has been associated with newspaper and public relations work ever since he graduated from American International College. His background in golf gives him much of the particular flavor he uses to discuss the wheres and whyfores of the superintendent.

Along the way Gerry has piled up a number of writing awards, not only in golf but in other related athletic fields. He is one of the most widely read sports columnists in New England, presently based at The Hartford Times where he holds the position of sports editor.

Gerry admits to only a nodding acquaintance with the intricacies of the superintendent profession. "That way", he claims, "I can have the grubbiest lawn in town and get away with it."

That's about all he would tell us about himself, other than the fact that since his association with the supers he has noticed something about his golf game. "It's gone to hell", he growls.

"ATTENTION GREENS CHAIRMEN"

It has come to my attention that there are many of you out there who, underhandedly, have gone about searching for a replacement for your Greens Superintendent while he is still in your employ. It is my hope to impress upon you how we superintendents feel about such a practice.

To start with, it is against all rules of the many professional turf associations for any of its members to interview at any club for a greens superintendent's position unless the position is officially open. (I know many of you have found this out the hard way). Also such practice would make the man you go after wonder if the same thing will happen to him in a year or so.

We superintendents are professional men in somewhat the same position as many of you chairmen are. Your superintendent doesn't want to be turned out in the cold simply because "mother nature" decided it was his turn to have a bad year. For example: if one of a doctor's patients passes away while in surgery, whether it be his fault, or as we say, "mother nature's", the A.M.A. doesn't tell him he can no longer practice his profession and revoke his license. No, he continues his practice with the hope that next time he will be able to save a life. We superintendents, too, would like that chance to prove that we, too, can come through for you the next year.

A good superintendent is not the one whose turf comes through a hard winter in rough shape and "has" to let it come back by itself, but one that gets out there and does what is required to correct it. To correct it most of the time costs money and most clubs don't want to spend the money; so they do the next best thing and blame the superintendent.

Before you go searching for a replacement stop and think what the man you have now has done for you, not what "mother nature" has done to make his job harder. There are many times when we, too, would like to get away from it all for a few days, but with not being able to pay our help what they are worth, not having enough help when we need it, the dry hot weather and the members who insist on using golf carts after three days of rain, or after the ground is frozen, we can't possibly think of getting away.

The next time you think of replacing, don't. Try to help the man you have all you can. Maybe, if you offer your superintendent a little more, for example, pay his way to turf grass conferences, pay his dues to his professional organizations and remember that when he tells you it's time to reseed an area or trade in a piece of equipment for something newer, try to go along with him for he's doing it for your own good and that of golfing pleasure.

We Superintendents won't accept a job offer in this manner for we are not just the guys who cut the grass anymore, we are professionals!

MEETING NOTES

February's Meeting was held at the Sheraton-Wayfarer in Bedford, N. H. on Wednesday the 4th.

Bill Knoop, our new specialist in turf at the University of N. H. was introduced to our Association and briefly explained what his responsibilities will be in his new position, and what kind of relationships we can expect with him and the University.

The March meeting will be held on Wednesday, March 11, at the Sheraton-Wayfarer. The meeting date was changed from the first to the second Wednesday because of the Mass. Turf Conference. The schedule for the March meeting is as follows:

Date, Wednesday, March 11
Coffee Hour	10:00 a. m.
Business Meeting	11:00 a. m.
Lunch	12:15 p. m.
Educational Meeting	1:30 p. m.

MASSACHUSETTS TURF CONFERENCE

Once again the Mass. Turf and Lawn Grass Conference will be held at the Highpoint Motor Inn, Chicopee Falls, Mass.

Dr. Joseph Troll of the University of Mass., Chairman of the Planning Committee, and his committee have once again arranged a varied and educational program that is sure to be of interest to all concerned with the turf grass industry.

It is generally felt that any club which does not pay its Superintendent's expenses or at least share in his financial obligations for this conference is causing an injustice to both themselves and their Superintendent.

APPLICATION TO BE VOTED ON

Bert Fredericks, Superintendent of the Vesper Country Club in Tyngsboro, Massachusetts, has made application for a regular membership in our Association. Bert will be voted on at the March meeting.

PROFILES

I thought at this time you would like to meet Bill Knoop who is the new Turf Specialist at the University of N. H. He studied under Dr. Elliot Roberts at Iowa State University where he received his B.S. and at the University of Florida where he received his M.S.A. His research was done in Turf Nutrition.

While at the University, Bill will spend his full time in turf extension. I am sure that this will prove to be a tremendous asset to everyone concerned with the turf industry in the State of N. H. Bill's office at the University of N. H. is 306 Nesmith. He is married and the father of two children.

WELCOME HOME

Camille Brochu, who operates Ponderosa Golfland in Westbrook, has just returned from a 13,000 mile trip which started way back in October. Camille went across Canada all the way to the Pacific, down the coast to California, eventually to Florida, and finally back home.

While in California, he visited with John Silva at Pebble Beach, who showed Camille all 5 courses in the Del-Monte set-up. Camille says "Maine does not have to be ashamed of its golf courses. Our turf is as good or better than theirs." In Florida, he visited the P.G.A. course at West Palm Beach and saw many of our Maine pros. He also visited at Boca Raton but missed Harvey LaMontagne, now the Superintendent there. Camille said that what impressed him most was the friendliness of the Superintendents everywhere he went. (We should remember to be just as friendly to the out-of-State boys when they visit us). Camille made the trip in a new truck-trailer set-up and said it is the only way to travel. Welcome back, Camille.

G.C.S.A.A. CONFERENCE

We will be looking forward to hearing from John Davis and Harold Hathaway about their experiences and impressions at the GCSAA National Conference held in Houston the first part of February. John is the Association representative at the Conference. Save some experiences for us, fellows, to relate at the Turf Conference in March.

SOUND OFF!

(Here we are again with the mailbag bulging and another session of Sound Off about to come your way. The NEGCSA invites all interested readers of the Newsletter to take part in this venture. We are open for criticism and even a word or two of praise if that suits you. Whatever, we would like to hear from you and welcome your comments. Send them to Newsletter Mail Box, 24 Riverview Drive, Newbury, Mass. 01950. In most cases we shall make comment on them.)

"As chairman of grounds at our club, I was interested in the letter from the superintendent who was burdened with the chore of clearing a paddle tennis court. I am troubled by a related problem. When the members wanted to construct a paddle tennis area here they promised me the club would realize revenue from such sources as late cocktail parties and snacks. So far, it's been a big zero. When the players finish their paddling, they take off for the nearest beanery for a hamburger and hot chocolate."

MALCOLM TROWBRIDGE

Country Club of Dover, Dover, Maryland

You really ought to be grateful, Mal. Just think. You don't have to sweep any drunks out of the club at late hours. Some of those paddle tennis games go beyond midnight.

"This probably is a familiar gripe with your members. I am a superintendent of a wealthy club and have to live through that nightmare of the profession, the succession of green chairmen. It seems that just when I get one broken in, his term expires and I'm stuck with another greenhorn."

STEVE THOMSON

Whispering Hills, Va.

You are not alone. We would venture to say the greenhorns outnumber the green chairmen in every state.

"I was delighted to learn that the New England group of golf course superintendents is making plans for a sojourn to Scotland. We have been working with Mr. St. Pierre of your organization in an attempt to make a worthwhile trip for your members and friends. The response to Mr. St. Pierre's idea has been overwhelming. I hope all of you get the chance to join us at St. Andrew's."

HAROLD CHASE

European Tours, Ltd., New York, N. Y.

APRIL MEETING

Meeting dates for the coming season as arranged by Julius Aksten of the golf committee:

- April 6, 1970 — Holiday Inn, Grove St., Newton, Mass.
- May 4, 1970 — Oyster Harbors C. C. Charles Gardner, Supt.
- June 1, 1970 — Pleasant Valley, (Supt. - Press) Noel Fongellaz, Supt.
- July 13, 1970 — Cohasset Golf Course, (Supt. - Greens Chairman), Arthur Washburn, Supt.
- August 3, 1970 — Chestnut Hill C. C., (Supt. - Wives), Dean Robertson, Supt.
- September 15, 1970 — Mt. Pleasant C. C., Dick Blake, Supt., (Tentative Date).
- October 26, 1970 — Brae Burn C. C., (Supt. - Pro) Bob Grant, Supt., (Tentative Date).
- November 2, 1970 — Dedham Polo and C. C., Robert Muciarone, Supt.

Just throw in an extra champagne party, Harold old chap, and we might get the national to make it, too.

"I have been reading with interest about some of the things you fellows must live with in your position as golf course superintendents. Really, I never dreamed you were without international representation at the bargaining table. Therefore, I am offering this informal introductory note so that your members are aware of the fact they can acquire those "fringe benefits" I read about with a little outside help."

IRVING SCHATZLER

Labor Relation Services, Hartford, Conn.

Next time you write enclose your telephone number. The way things are going you just might get a fast call some day.

"I have just been through the annual war of nerves and threat to my sanity . . . which means not more than an hour ago I went away from the budget meeting at my club.

"As you probably can see I am a superintendent who must go through this battle every January as members seem to forget the troubles of last summer when an increase in the budget might have made a difference with the condition of the course.

"What I'm trying to say is that I think budget meetings should take place in the summer with the fiscal year running from July to July. It's much easier to talk about the needs of a golf course when the budget maker can look out the window and view the situation as it exists in the middle of the golf season. Don't you agree?"

JACK ELLERY

Bay Shore, Long Island

You hit the budget makers on top of their marble heads, Jack. Budget meetings in June could mean at least another 15 grand for the upkeep of the golf course. Maybe that's why it won't happen.

(That puts the finishing touch on this month's version of Sound Off. But there'll be more the next time around. So, come out of your shell and fill us in on your thoughts).

Mr. Paul Goldman, center standing, Greens Chairman and Superintendent Dean Robertson, right, direct the first Golf and Greens meeting for 1970 at the Chestnut Hill C. C. This meeting was held at the grounds maintenance building. Many of the committee commented that they never knew anything about this department. All agreed that the meeting was informative and should have been held here long before this.
