PRESIDENT'S ANNUAL REPORT

Thomas Watroba
CAGCS President

The past year as President of CAGCS has proved to be an experience I will not soon forget. You quickly realize that one individual can only accomplish so much. Many ideas and plans that were priorities at the beginning of the year fade to the background as you learn to deal with ever-changing concerns that require more immediate attention. You must content yourself with doing the best you possibly can, knowing there is never enough time to do everything you would have liked.

My modest goals for this year included strengthening this organization by encouraging better relations amongst our large, diverse and ever-expanding membership and by staying current, progressive and thorough with the business matters that affect this association. I believe we have realized some success in achieving these goals based upon some of the accomplishments of the past year. These include the purchase of a new computer, laser printer and postage meter, a revamped budget survey, successful educational programs which have highlighted environmental concerns beginning with the Winter Seminar, terrific response to membership meetings, golf and social programs, celebrity foursomes at our Invitational and record attendance for our S & R Tournament. We are also in the process of updating standard operating procedures for all CAGCS committees so future board members will know what is expected of them.

Most of the credit for these accomplishments belongs to our hard working Board of Directors. Those individuals who sacrifice time away from their families and jobs for the well being of this organization. They were asked to meet 10 times since last November (the officers 14 times), and most have made every effort to attend these meetings.

I would like to thank Vice President, Steve Rackliffe, for the outstanding job his long-range planning committee did on the survey and for his support and involvement with CAGCS matters throughout the year. Secretary and Newsletter Editor, John Streeter, whose work ethic, enthusiasm and energy for his responsibilities I often took for granted. Treasurer, Scott Ramsay, who has done an excellent job of learning to handle a difficult and demanding position.

Dave Stimson, handling educational matters with a skill and ease that comes only with experience. Peter Pierson, whose dual role of S & R Chairman and P.P.U.C. Representative was performed with dedication and meticulous attention to detail. Frank Lamphier, for his no-nonsense approach to tracking the ever-expanding membership rosters. Fred Bachand, who quietly but effectively served as a Public Relations Chairman. Phil Neaton, our Social & Welfare Chairman, who I believe will become an exemplary member of the board. Bob Chalifour, our Immediate Past President, for his efforts with employment referral, his assistance with Noel Jackson's nomination and his sense of humor. Stephanie Zanieski, our Commercial Representative who fulfilled her responsibilities with a dedication and thoroughness unmatched in my time on the board. Last, because he's grown so accustomed to it at membership meetings; last to shower, last to eat, but first in performance, our Golf Chairman extraordinaire, Peter Lewis. I thank you one and all.

I would like to thank all the members who volunteered their clubs and sacrificed their time to host membership meetings or special events throughout the year. Your contributions are important ingredients to the success of all of our functions. Thanks also to those who gave up time to serve on committees or assist CAGCS in other ways. Your efforts are greatly appreciated.

Special thanks is in order for those who have worked behind the scenes for CAGCS. Diana Autrey, my secretary, who has the uncanny ability to decipher my writing. Pandora Wojick, for her excellent work on the survey, and Pauline Streeter, who has done exemplary work assisting with the newsletter, the Green Book, membership and mailings.

A final thank you belongs to the membership of CAGCS for your support and involvement throughout the year. Without your participation at meetings, social functions and special events, we could not have achieved any measure of success this past year. I encourage all of you to become actively involved with your association.

The immediate future of the golf industry and CAGCS appears bright, but there are potential problems on the horizon. Environmental, as well as economic concerns remain at the forefront.

Regarding CAGCS, our unprecedented growth has created a greater need to depend on staff to assist officers, directors and the membership. We need to evaluate our staff needs for the immediate future and beyond, clearly defining their roles and the financial ramifications involved. There is a great deal of work to be done.

In closing, I would like to add that I've been proud to serve this past year as President. I have tried to act decisively and work with the board to make decisions without prejudice in the best interests of all the members of CAGCS and for the betterment of our profession. I look forward to the upcoming year and the challenges that lay ahead.

Sterilized Top Dressing

EGYPT FARMS EXCLUSIVE!

All top dressing ingredients are thoroughly mixed and sterilized by indirect heat in our special process. The sand particles are actually coated with a mixture of top soil and peat humus for a completely homogenous mixture that will not separate during handling and spreading.

Egypt Farms top dressing is formulated especially for your local area to specifications recommended by leading universities and testing laboratories.

Many years of research and testing by these leading universities have produced a soil mixture for superior growth; to maintain the best balance of percolation; to resist compaction; for good aeration; and for the retention of usable water and nutrients in the growing medium.

Green and tee construction materials and mixes conforming to the above specifications are also available.

"Comradery" is the flavor at the annual meeting of CAGCS

A full house of new and old faces was the scene at the annual meeting of CAGCS which was held at the Old Lyme Country Club in Old Lyme, CT. It was refreshing to see members gathering in a business/social atmosphere engaging in the highs and lows of the past and upcoming season. I would have to say that this is one event that I hope will be the norm from here on out. Tom Watroba, President, treated all of the 80+ attendees to an informative, to-the-point, and overall well-organized meeting.

As Tom stated in his annual report, "The immediate future of the golf industry and CAGCS appears bright. But there are potential problems on the horizon. Environmental, as well as economical concerns remain at the forefront."

In order for us to meet these concerns, it must be done together for the good of all. The monthly meetings provide a forum for us to get together and practice comradery, so that we can face these issues on the horizon.

Brian Skelly, Host Superintendent, did a fine job in organizing the procedures which made for a smooth running day. Thanks to Brian and the staff at Old Lyme Country Club.

Scramble Results from Annual Meeting

Annual January CAGCS Seminar January 8, 1991 Ramada Inn Meriden, CT

The annual CAGCS Seminar will be held on January 8, 1991 at the Ramada Inn in Meriden. Education Chairperson, Dave Stimson not only has found a new location, but also has an all-star lineup. Speakers include Dr. Pat Vinum who will be talking about Pesticide Injection; Dr. James Watson from the Toro Company; Mr. Duane Patton, a superintendent, who will cover computers in golf course management; Don Kiley, Executive Director of PPUC; Jim Donovan from Agrinostics Company who will be briefing us on new ways to detect disease; and rounding out our program will be Greg Piontek from the State of Connecticut's DEP, and Kim Trella from the Waste Management Department, who will be briefing us on the upcoming recycling laws.

Please note that this seminar will be good for credits toward recertification of your pesticide license. You must sign in on the roster sheet and give your pesticide license number. You must also fill out the forms required which will be handed out at the end of the seminar in order to receive credit for the day.

To highlight the day, the annual "Superintendent of the Year" Award will be presented. Please return your ballot to Stephanie Zanieski no later than December 20 to cast your vote for your choice of "Superintendent of the Year".

A special note of thanks to those vendors who sponsored the "Closest to the Pin" and "Longest Drive" awards at our monthly golf events this season:

Conference & Show
February 5-12, 1991

GREATEST SHOW ON TURF COMES TO LAS VEGAS

Attendance is expected to top 17,000 at the 62nd International Golf Course Conference and Trade Show scheduled February 5-12, 1991, in Las Vegas, Nevada. The golf course industry's main event, hosted by the GCSAA, will include nearly 50 educational sessions and seminars, a two-and-one-half day trade show, a gala banquet featuring a performance by Neil Sedaka, the Association's annual meeting and election of officers, and the 1991 GCSAA Golf Championship.

Topics range from turfgrass disease control to environmental regulations will be covered in 41 one and two-day seminars that will be offered during the first four days of the conference, February 5-8. Six concurrent education sessions are slated for Saturday, February 9.

Mark H. McCormack, sports marketing entrepreneur, will keynote the Opening Session on Friday, February 8, at The Riviera, the GCSAA Conference and Show headquarters hotel. McCormack is Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of International Management Group, a 14-company, multinational conglomerate, and the author of What They Don't Teach You at Harvard Business School.

More than 500 manufacturers and distributors of golf/turf industry products, supplies and services are expected to exhibit at the trade show, which runs February 10-12 at the Las Vegas Convention Center.

Legendary pop singer/songwriter Neil Sedaka will perform at the formal closing banquet on Tuesday, February 12. The versatile performer penned some of the biggest hits of the rock 'n roll era, including "Breaking Up is Hard to Do", "Laughter in the Rain", and "Happy Birthday Sweet Sixteen".

The highlight of the gala evening will be the presentation of the Old Tom Morris Award, GCSAA's highest honor, to William C. Campbell. Campbell is the only American ever to have served both as president of the United States Golf Association and as captain of the Royal & Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, Scotland.

SUPERINTENDENTS SET FOR CHAMPIONSHIP SHOOTOUT IN THE DESERT

The Arizona desert will heat up with competition as more than 600 members of the GCSAA contend for their profession's Golf Championship early next year in Scottsdale. A major annual event for the men and women who manage golf courses throughout the world, the GCSAA Championship is one of the largest association-sponsored tournaments in the nation.

Tournament participants will be contending February 4-5 for individual and chapter team honors. Last year's championship, held in Orlando, Florida, saw the Carolinas GCSA #1 team win the chapter team competition. Roger Null, CGCS, superintendent at Norwood Hills Country Club in St. Louis, MO, won the individual championship. Null is scheduled to defend his title in Scottsdale.

The championship is scheduled for five courses in the Scottsdale area. Five beautiful and adventurous golf courses, featuring a mixture of challenges, will test the field during the 1991 Golf Championship. The host courses are: McCormick Ranch Golf Club's Palm and Pine courses, Orange Tree Golf Resort, Papago Golf Course and Stonecreek, The Golf Club.

McCormick Ranch Golf Club is a 36-hole complex that was originally designed by Desmond Muirhead, with some recent revisions by Tom Fazio. McCormick is one of the oldest and most well known courses in the desert. The Palm Course plays to 6,202 yards from the regular tees and the Pine Course plays to 6,333 yards. There are 90 acres of lakes on both courses, with water coming into play on 15 of the 36 holes. Both courses are described as traditional desert courses with relatively

Golf Superintendents to Elect Leaders in Las Vegas

Cadenelli nominated for President of GCSAA

Stephen G. Cadenelli, CGCS, Past President of CAGCS, has been nominated for the presidency of the GCSAA. The Association's 1991 election of officers and directors will be held February 12th during its annual meeting at the GCSAA International Golf Course Conference and Show.

Cadenelli, superintendent at The Metedeconk National Golf Club in Jackson, NJ, is currently vice president of GCSAA.

Nominees for GCSAA vice president are directors Randy Nichols, CGCS, of Cherokee Town & Country Club in Dunwoody, GA, and William R. Roberts, CGCS, of Lochmoor Club in Grosse Pointe Woods, MI. Roberts currently serves as Secretary/Treasurer of the association.

Three candidates for director will be elected for two-year terms. The four nominees for director are: Gary T. Grigg, CGCS, Shadow Glen, The Golf Club, Olathe, Kansas; Charles T. Passios, CGCS, Hyannisport Club, Hyannis Port, MA; Gary D. Sayre, CGCS, Overlake Golf & Country Club Medina, WA; Bruce R. Williams, CGCS, Bob O'Link Golf Club Highland Park, IL.

GCSAA's current president, Gerald L. Faubel, CGCS, of Saginaw Country Club in Saginaw, MI, will continue to serve on the Board of Directors for one year as Immediate Past President.

Two current board members, Joseph G. Baidy, CGCS, of Acacia Country Club in Lyndhurst, OH, and Randall P. Zidik, CGCS, of Rolling Hills Country Club in McMurray, PA, have one year remaining on their terms.

What's New? Find out at the GCSAA Trade Show

More than 500 manufacturers and suppliers will display the newest products and services in the golf course management industry during the 1991 GCSAA Trade Show.

The largest annual event in the industry, the GCSAA Trade Show affords golf course superintendents the unique advantage of being able to compare all the different product lines in one place at one time. Companies from around the world will preview the latest products available for the management of golf courses. Millions of dollars worth of turf and irrigation equipment, drainage systems, geotextiles, seed, turf chemicals and all manner of turf maintenance supplies will be featured.

The trade show, recognized by Tradeshaw Week as one of the 150 largest in the United States, will be open 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. on Sunday and Monday, Feb. 10-11, and 9 a.m. - 1 p.m. on Tuesday, February 12. Saturday, February 9, is designated Distributor Day, a preview that allows exhibitors a special opportunity to expand distributor/dealer relations.

flat terrain and gently rolling hills. Famed Camelback Mountain is the beautiful backdrop of these lush layouts.

Orange Tree Golf Resort, ranked as one of Arizona's top 10 resort courses, was designed by former PGA touring pro, Johnny Bulla, with some redesign work by architect Gary Panks. Orange Tree play 6,398 yards from the middle tees. The course plays fairly open, four lakes come into play on several holes and most greens are guarded by bunkers. Orange Tree's 18th hole is considered one of the best finishing holes in the Valley.

Papago Golf Course is one of the prototypes of the desert-style layouts.

Originally designed by William Bell, Papago is consistently ranked as one of the top municipal courses in the country.

The course's regular tees play to 6,613 yards. There are no waste areas to carry tee-to-green, but once out of the fairway, a golfer will be hitting out of the desert. Water only comes into play on three holes. Papago is the yearly qualifying site for the Public Links Championship, as well as a qualifying site for the Phoenix Open.

Stonecreek, The Golf Club, is a beautiful Scottish links-style course that runs along the Indian Bend Wash in Paradise Valley. An original Roy Dye design, the course was known as Mummy Mountain and later as Stonecreek plays to 6,280 yards from its middle tees. The course gets its links "feel" from mounding, waste areas and bunkers. The Indian Bend Wash, also known as Stonecreek, winds through the middle of the course and comes into play on eight of the holes.

A more thorough look at the 1991 GCSAA Championship courses can be found in the October, 1990 issue of Golf Course Management magazine.

The tournament will be held prior to GCSAA's 62nd International Golf Course Conference and Show which will be held February 5-12 in Las Vegas, Nevada.

EPA PROPOSES PESTICIDE STORAGE REGULATIONS

By Robert Denny, Office of Pesticide Programs

U. S. Environmental Protection Agency

As authorized in the 1988 amendments to the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is proposing regulations on the storage of pesticides. These regulations are scheduled to become final in late 1991, with compliance effective two years later.

The goal of the storage regulations is to provide minimum, reasonable federal storage standards. The overall objectives of the storage regulations are to minimize human exposure, improve fire protection, ensure safe and effective spill management and cleanup, and codify good management practices.

These proposed regulations contain minimum standards for all facilities that store more than 11,000 pounds (5,000 kilograms) of pesticide products. Industry surveys of facilities and practices reveal that many agricultural dealers and distributors meet or exceed the standards in the proposed regulations. The intent is simply to achieve compliance by the segment of the industry that does not currently meet these minimum standards.

To meet the general standards, pesticide storage facilities must be:

- secured and posted with warning signs;
- floored with sealed concrete to prevent seepage through hairline cracks;
- equipped with electricity, water and adequate ventilation;
- equipped with two sets of personal protective clothing for spill cleanup or other emergencies;
- built to local fire protection codes;
- provide with secondary containment for bulk storage.

The proposed regulations also require specific operational procedures for all storage facilities. These procedures include accident prevention, inspection of containers, and employee training.

A key issue for the agency is determining who must comply with these regulations. Currently, the agency is proposing to exclude any farm, commercial applicator or other facility that stores less than 11,000 pounds of pesticide products.

Another issue is the requirement for training. Concerns have been raised by industry representatives during recent field trips that EPA regulations potentially overlap with OSHA regulations, causing confusion, compliance difficulties and excessive and duplicative training time for their employees. If employers comply with other OSHA training requirements, should they be exempt from EPA training requirements?

The agency welcomes comment on these issues, the proposed storage regulations and their potential impact on the golf course industry. Please direct these comments to Rob Denny, Janice Jensen or Tracy Bone, Pesticide Management and Disposal Staff, Environmental Fate & Effects Division (H-7507C), Office of Pesticide Programs, EPA, 401 "M" Street S.W., Washington, DC, 20460. ## GCSAA Education Program Earns National Accreditation

The continuing education program offered by GCSAA has earned official accreditation from the Accrediting Council for Continuing Education and Training (ACCET). ACCET is recognized by the U. S. Secretary of Education as the official accrediting agency for non-collegiate continuing education.

"Receiving accreditation confirms our belief that GCSAA offers topflight educational benefits to our members," said John M. Schilling, GCSAA Executive Director. "Few professional associations take this extra step to ensure quality education for their members."

GCSAA's senior director of education and marketing, Colleen Smalter Pederson, added that, "We chose to pursue accreditation to get public verification of the scope and quality of GCSAA's educational programs. It is important to us to have our programs measured against established standards."

The ACCET Accrediting Commission voted August 18th to approve GCSAA for full accreditation status, culminating a two-year preparation, application and evaluation process. Full accreditation recognizes the Association's current curriculum of more than 50 one and two-day seminars designed to provide information on up-to-date golf course maintenance practices and to sharpen the management skills of golf course superintendents.

GCSAA's correspondence coursework is also included under the accreditation. The Association introduced its first correspondence course last year covering media relations for the golf course superintendent. Correspondence training courses for underground storage tank management and hazard communication are planned for 1991.

Nearly 3,500 participants attended GCSAA's 38 conference seminars and 30 regional seminars during the 1989-1990 academic year. Another 81 seminars are planned for 1990-1991.

OUT OF SIGHT,

OUT OF MIND?

Hidden beneath your course, an underground storage tank can be easy to forget — until trouble arises. If your course is faced with clean-up costs and liability claims from an accidental leak, are you prepared?

Before you answer, consider this: Few, if any, general liability policies cover the cost of a leak from a UST. What's more, all golf courses with USTs must prove complete financial responsibility for those tanks by October 26, 1991.

If your course has a gap in its existing liability insurance, GCSAA now sponsors a specially developed UST insurance program that meets or exceeds all EPA standards in covering clean-ups from motor fuel, heating and waste oil leaks. It also covers third-party liability and legal defense costs. Even better, the GCSAA program will work within your courses's existing insurance program through your current agent.

Close the gap in your operation's insurance and meet an important compliance deadline. Act now to get GCSAA-sponsored UST insurance and preserve your peace of mind.
