WHAT IS ALL THE BUZZ ABOUT?

What is all the buzz about? From Europe to Washington, D.C., State to Washington State and nearly every place between, the plight of honey bees has been on the main stage. After attending the Pollinator Summit (presented by the New Jersey Green Industry Council) and Dr. Daniel Potter's keynote address at the New York State Turfgrass Association Turf and Grounds Exposition, I have come to learn a lot about the critical role pollinators play in our world. Like turf, there are internal and external stresses that can upset the balance of the hive and industry. Oh and there are politics, lots of politics. There is also science, emotion and a host of other factors involved in the discussion. While the issues continue to swarm, let's take a quick peek at golf's footprint in this issue.

What role does turf play in the pollinator discussion? Neonicotinoid class insecticides (neonics), often used as a preventative for white grubs, have been shown to have adverse effect on pollinators. The degree to which they affect the beneficial insects often has more to do with which side of the political issue you wish to argue. While this situation is unfortunate it definitely can create disruption in turf right here in the Northeast region. Just this past year alone, legislative measures took place in New Jersey, New York, Vermont, and Maine to ban the use of neonics. Beekeepers in Vermont joined one superintendent at the committee hearing to assist in educating the legislators as to the minimal role neonics play in pollinator issues. Stephanie Darnell, technical development manager, Bayer CropScience, cited a survey of beekeepers that placed pesticides as the seventh most important stress factor to those in the bee industry, with varroa mite at the top of the list.

While none of the above mentioned legislation efforts were successful, it opens up the "what if" discussion. Without this useful tool, turf managers could be pushed to use more volatile chemicals, such as organophosphate and carbamate insecticides, to control the same pests. These options are much less environmentally friendly, more costly and potentially more harmful to non-target pests. What can turf managers do with regards to our friendly pollinators?

Develop stewardship practices:

Learn about our role as land managers and the stresses regarding honey bees. Develop spray programs with the sensitivities of pollinators in mind.

Support research:

Emotion and regulation can often outpace research needed to answer vital questions, and this issue is no exception. Remain vigilant regarding the latest research, and adjust your practices as needed.

Be part of the solution:

It is so often overlooked that the golf industry undertakes environmental initiatives simply because it is the right thing to do. The changing landscape is often a negative impact on pollinators, leaving open green space that includes pollinator friendly vegetation as a critical part of the solution. Whether you choose to work with industry partners on specifically developed pollinator friendly programs, or become conscious of areas and plantings that you could incorporate on your property, avenues are available for our industry to be part of the solution.

I encourage GCSAA chapters to reach out to your state apiarists as a resource for information. Invite that individual to a meeting or education day to spread the word about pollinators in your area. The more you learn about the role your facilities play in the issue, the better chance you have at being part of the solution.

The President's Message

- Our 2014 social calendar started with a spectacular Family Day at Lake Compounce in August and ends with our upcoming Annual Christmas Party at J. Timothy's Tavern in December.
- Our Golf Calendar started with a beautiful day in April and concluded with a rain filled event at our Annual Meeting in November. I would like to thank all of our members who hosted events this year.

Well another season is in the books. I hope everyone had a successful year and was able to take advantage of the beautiful fall weather to finish any remaining projects before winter sets in. If the old farmers' tale about acorns holds any truth we could be in for quite a winter as I cannot recall a year where more acorns have fallen from the trees.

As I conclude my first term as CAGCS president I would like to give you a quick recap of the year's events.

- The CAGCS event calendar started in January with a return visit to the Mystic Marriott for our Winter Seminar which included a great list of speakers and a wonderful turnout.

The CAGCS board of directors held meetings throughout the year in which we discussed and voted on issues concerning the Association. One of the board's biggest challenges this year was cutting costs to present a balanced budget without increasing dues or asking for more commercial support. After successfully initiating several cost cutting measures this year I am pleased to report that we were able to present a balanced budget without any dues increases despite a declining membership total.

Finally, I would like to thank the entire board of directors and Mary Jo Kennedy for their hard work and dedication to our association throughout the year. I would also like to thank all of our commercial members for their continued support of CAGCS. I hope everyone gets to spend a little bit of down time with friends and family this Holiday Season.

Happy Holidays,
Donnie

Compliance Counseling

Are you in compliance with the laws and regulations that affect your job and the golf course? GCSAA members can contact the public policy staff for free compliance counseling, information and resources on the following laws and regulations that affect your job and the golf course:

- Employee training
- Hazard communication
- Chemical use and storage
- Environmental protection
- Workplace safety
- Wetlands protection and conservation
- OSHA recordkeeping
- Child labor laws
- Americans with Disabilities Act
- Material safety data sheets
- Personal protective equipment
- Fuel storage tanks
- And many more

New Compliance Deadline: Use of Nematicur (fenamiphos) products extended until Oct. 6, 2017

The EPA has granted GCSAA's request for an extension on the use of fenamiphos (Nematicur nematicide) existing stocks labeled for use on golf courses until Oct. 6, 2017. Nematicur is used to control the major genera of nematodes attacking turfgrass including root knot, root lesion, sting, lane and rink nematodes. Contact Chava McKeel, associate director, government relations, for more information.

About the Plant Health Academy

The objective of the Healthy Turf, Healthy Tomorrow Plant Health Academy is to provide golf course superintendents with opportunities to learn more about innovative plant health research and practices for the benefit of their facilities, individual careers and the industry. Learn more about Plant Health Academy and view photos from the 2013 and 2014 events.

The Plant Health Academy offers two two-and-a-half-day education and training sessions for golf course superintendents. The sessions will be held at GCSAA headquarters in Lawrence, Kan., on April 20-22, 2015 and at the Bayer Training and Development Center in Clayton, N.C., from Sept. 16-18, 2015.

Twelve superintendents will be selected for this unique opportunity to collaborate with industry experts and expand their knowledge on key industry plant health issues and trends.

To be considered, superintendents must complete the application and respond to two essay questions.

Applicants must be employed as a golf course superintendent within the U.S., including Alaska and Hawaii, a Class A or Superintendent member (SM) of the GCSAA and be enrolled in Bayer's MyBayerRewards customer loyalty program.

Golf Industry Show General Registration Open

Be sure to spread the word that general registration is now open for the 2015 Golf Industry Show, Feb. 21-26 in San Antonio. Visit the new website for details on education opportunities, the trade show, events and attendee resources.

GCSAA Grassroots Network — Building Our Grassroots Army

Advocacy is one of the most powerful ways to impact public policy. Successful association advocacy and lobbying efforts depend upon establishing strong relationships with elected officials. Ad hoc advocacy makes it hard to build strong, long-term relationships with elected officials and have a positive impact on policy decisions.

The GCSAA Grassroots Network is a new, dedicated group of GCSAA members who want to engage in the association's government relations efforts. Individuals in the GCSAA Grassroots Network also have the opportunity to serve as a GCSAA Grassroots Ambassador. GCSAA will give its Grassroots Ambassadors personalized training on building relationships with Members of Congress.

Ambassadors Update by State:

USGA ANNOUNCES MAJOR GREEN SECTION CHANGES

Effective Dec. 1, the Green Section regions will be realigned, reducing the current eight regions to four. The current Northeast and Mid-Atlantic regions will combine to form the Northeast region;

the new Southeast region will be a combination of the states within the current Southeast and Florida regions, with the addition of Louisiana and Arkansas; the current North-Central and Mid-Continent regions will combine to form the new Central region; and the current Southwest and Northwest regions will combine to form the new West region. It's the first time in nearly two decades that significant changes have been made to the Green Section regions.

2014 NEW ENGLAND SUPERINTENDENTS CHAMPIONSHIP RESULTS

On Tuesday, October 7th the Omni Mount Washington Resort, Superintendent Dave Ousterhout and the New Hampshire Golf Course Superintendents Association, hosted the 2014 New England Golf Course Superintendents Championship. Each of the seven associations across New England was represented with an 8-man team for the event.

Overall the event was a success despite having to suspend play for a rain delay, and shorten the event to a 9-hole scored match. Mother Nature thru just about everything she could at the players up in the White Mountains, but the event finished. The 2014 Championship went to the Vermont Team who posted a team score of 115 to take the top spot. They were followed by the New England Association who posted a 96. Closing out the top three was Connecticut with a post of 94 points.

Joe Oliveira from the Rhode Island Association took the longest drive prize and Rick Lewis from the Maine Association took home the closest to the pin award.

A big thank you to the Director of Golf, John Pawlak, at the Omni Mount Washington Resort and his staff, as they provided great support throughout the event. John was even able to get a little plug in on the Fox 25 Boston news broadcast first thing Tuesday morning:

Thank you to everyone who played in the event on Tuesday, it was a pleasure to have had such a great group of individuals play here at the Historic Omni Mount Washington Resort.

We will all be looking forward to next year's event hosted by the Rhode Island Golf Course Superintendents Association.

Introducing GreenWave brand Fertilizers and Premium Grass Seed:

Don't settle for "off the rack" fertilizers and inferior grass seed genetics....
demand the right product for your unique agronomic
and budgetary needs!

GreenWave
brand

No one likes aeration....

So take the guesswork out of your cultivation/topdressing planning. The ISTRC testing process provides an analytical assessment of your rootzone profiles, and a comprehensive plan to help achieve the determined goals. Reports are committee/BOD friendly.

Simplify your sprays....

With the "Coverage System", application
recordkeeping, spray tracking, and access to product labels has never been easier! Atlantic is proud to be the exclusive New England supplier of this innovative new solution from Playbooks for Golf.

2015 NOR'EASTER SKI DAY

2015 Nor'easter Ski Day is on March 5th at Killington Ski Resort. All the information and registrations links can be found on the front page of the VTGCSA's webpage at <http://www.vtgcsa.com/>. Members can register anytime starting now! There are rooms available at several locations at Killington, so make sure you lock in a room before they're all taken. Space is on a first come basis and certain room blocks will be released after February 6th.

Organize your association and join us for the 3rd Annual Race and see if your association can take home the coveted Nor'easter Cup! Last year we had over 100 participants and we're sure to grow from there!

If you are able to sponsor this growing event, we would welcome your support! Under the registration page there are 3 different levels of support. If you have any questions please feel free to contact any of the ski committee members.

We hope that everyone had a safe holiday season and we hope to see you at Killington Resort!!
